

from Anatomy and Embryology,

Genetically engineered mice for the study of angiogenesis- - - - -

This laboratory has reported the generation of a genetically engineered mice for the study of angiogenesis. The mice could be useful for the research of angiogenesis during normal development and pathological condition such as cancer.

Journal Club: Genesis, 2012; 50:561-571.
Exp Anim. 2010; 59: 615-622.