

Apoptotic cells are not only phagocytosed, but suppress inflammation

This laboratory determined the interaction of the phosphatidylserine (PS) expressed apoptotic cells and immunoreceptor CD300a suppresses mast cell function and regulates the survival of mice sepsis model.

References: J Exp Med, 2012, 209; 493-1503., BBRC, 2012, 417; 646-650